About this booklet

If you have lost or are losing your sight, there is practical and financial support available to help you. A lot of this help, such as being able to claim for a wide range of concessions, is available once you register your sight loss.

This publication contains information on welfare benefits to which you may be entitled, concessions, certification and registration. It also includes information about additional support you can get if you are certified by an ophthalmologist (hospital eye doctor) and become registered with your local authority, letting them know that you may need support now or in future.

If you have a query about something that hasn’t been covered in this publication, please get in touch with us. We’re ready to help, just give us a call or drop us an email.

Welfare benefits

There are some benefits that you may be entitled to, subject to age and other circumstances. Being registered as severely sight impaired or sight impaired does not mean you are automatically entitled to any welfare benefits, and there’s no special benefit or pension for people who are registered. Equally, you do not have to be registered to receive benefits.

Various means-tested benefits, referred to as ‘legacy benefits’, are being replaced with Universal Credit for people aged 16 to pension age.

If you are a new claimant to means-tested benefits you will have to make a claim for Universal Credit.

If you are already receiving any of the affected legacy benefits, you will eventually be moved over to Universal Credit.
Call our Helpline if you would like any advice on applying for benefits, or to find out what you might be entitled to. We can provide advice based on your circumstances and carry out a benefits check. We also have detailed factsheets on the different benefits you might be eligible for, and you can call our Helpline to request your copy. Although we cannot guarantee your entitlement, we recommend that you apply for the appropriate benefit. If you don’t claim, you won’t get anything!

You can learn more about what you may be entitled to by visiting: rnib.entitledto.co.uk/home/start

If your benefit application is turned down
If you have applied for a benefit but are turned down, you should seek advice about requesting a review of the decision. This review is called a ‘mandatory reconsideration’ (‘re-determination’ for benefits administered by Social Security Scotland) and should normally be made within one month (42 days for benefits administered by Social Security Scotland) of the decision date. If you are still not satisfied after the reconsideration, you can lodge an appeal. Our factsheet on “Benefits Appeals” has information on how to appeal. Our toolkit, ‘Challenging Benefit Decisions’ provides a helpful guide on how to approach this, including some templates to assist you.

Call our Helpline to request the factsheet/toolkit or if you would like to speak to one of our advisers regarding help with challenging a benefit decision.

Personal Independence Payment (PIP) (available in England, Wales and Northern Ireland)

Help for disabled people with the extra costs of a disability

PIP is awarded to help with the costs of daily living needs and mobility needs resulting from an illness or a disability, including sight loss. It has a daily living component and a mobility component. You may qualify for either the standard rate or the enhanced rate of one or both components.

A PIP claim involves going through an assessment that uses a points-scoring system to determine entitlement. The PIP assessment involves an independent health care professional looking at your application, and deciding what information is required from medical and other professionals who know you, or if further information is required from you. You are likely to be asked to undertake a health assessment by an independent health care professional as part of this process. Most assessments are carried out by telephone or video link, however you could be asked to attend a face to face assessment.

Once this assessment has taken place, a report will be sent to the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) or the Department for Communities (DfC) for people living in Northern Ireland who will make a decision about your entitlement to one or both components.

If you are already receiving DLA

PIP has replaced DLA for people aged between 16 and pension age.

Most DLA claimants have now been asked to claim PIP instead. There is no automatic transfer from DLA to PIP if you are 16-64.

If you were under 65 and receiving DLA when PIP was introduced on 8 April 2013, (20 June 2016 in Northern Ireland) and you report a change of circumstances or your claim is due to be renewed then the DWP will assess your claim under the rules and qualifying conditions for PIP.
You will continue to get DLA and not be re-assessed for PIP if:

- you were aged 65 or over on 8 April 2013 in England or Wales
- you were aged 65 or over on 20 June 2016 in Northern Ireland
- and you were getting DLA on those dates

Child DLA claimants (aged under 16 years old) can continue to receive DLA until they are turning 16 when they will be invited to claim PIP. For more information, please contact our Helpline to get our factsheet on “Benefits for Children”.

Claimants of Child Disability Payment (CDP), the Scotland equivalent of Child DLA, can remain on CDP until 18 years of age (and older in some cases) provided a claim for Adult Disability Payment (ADP) has been made before reaching this age. For more information on what happens to older children in Scotland who are in receipt of CDP, please contact our Helpline to get our factsheet on “What happens when a child in receipt of Child Disability Payment reaches 16 years of age”.

Adult Disability Payment (ADP) (available in Scotland)

Help for disabled people with the extra costs of a disability

ADP is the Scotland equivalent of PIP, and it is awarded to help with the costs of daily living needs and mobility needs resulting from an illness or a disability, including sight loss. It has a daily living component and a mobility component, and you may qualify for either the standard rate or the enhanced rate of one or both components.

Unlike PIP, a minority of ADP claimants will be asked to attend a health assessment. Social Security Scotland will make a decision based on the information and evidence you have provided. They will also look at the evidence they have sought on your behalf (if you’ve given permission) and from their own internal health care professionals.

Social Security Scotland will only ask you to take part in a consultation if they cannot get the information they need, from the contacts you have given.
If you are already receiving PIP or DLA
You do not need to apply for ADP if you currently get either PIP or DLA. Social Security Scotland began moving people across to ADP in August 2022. Letters are sent to those affected, telling them what will happen during this process. Please be reassured that there will be no break in income during the transfer process. The DWP will continue to pay you PIP or DLA until Social Security Scotland start to pay you ADP.

Attendance Allowance
Help for disabled people of pension age with the extra costs of a disability
If you have reached state pension age (and do not already get DLA or PIP) you can make a claim for Attendance Allowance. It is for people who need personal help during the day or night, or both. You can also qualify if you need supervision or watching over to avoid getting into danger. There is no separate help with mobility needs in Attendance Allowance.

If you already receive DLA or PIP when you reach state pension age you can continue to get this benefit for as long as you meet the qualifying conditions.
Please note: Attendance Allowance, DLA and PIP or ADP do not count as income for the means-tested benefits listed later in this section. An award may make it more likely that you will qualify for other benefits.

To get a PIP claim form if you are living in England or Wales, call 0800 917 2222 or Textphone 0800 917 7777. If you are living in Northern Ireland, call 0800 012 1573.

An online claim for PIP is now available in some parts of the UK. To check if you can make an online claim, visit: apply-for-pip.dwp.gov.uk/eligibility/check-if-eligible

To apply for Adult Disability Payment if you are living in Scotland, call Social Security Scotland on 0800 182 2222.

For an Attendance Allowance claim form, call 0800 731 0122 or Textphone 0800 731 0317.
Carer’s Allowance

Financial help for carers

If someone such as your partner, a relative or friend spends time looking after you, they may be entitled to Carer’s Allowance, (Carer Support Payment for people living in parts of Scotland) or an increase in other benefits such as Pension Credit, Universal Credit, or both. You can be a carer even if you’re blind or partially sighted. To qualify for these benefits, the carer must meet certain criteria, including caring for someone for at least 35 hours each week. The care must be provided for someone who gets Attendance Allowance, the daily living component of PIP, the daily living component of ADP, the middle or highest rate of the DLA care component, the middle or highest rate of the care component of Child Disability Payment (Scotland).

Call the Carer’s Allowance Unit on 0800 731 0297 or Textphone 0800 731 0317.

To find out if Carer Support Payment is available for your area of Scotland please go to postcodecheck.socialsecurity.gov.scot or call Social Security Scotland on 0800 182 2222.

Important: If you, or a carer who helps you, is considering claiming Carer’s Allowance, Carer Support Payment or the Carer Element of Universal Credit, you should be aware that the money you or your carer receives through this benefit could lead to a reduction in the means-tested benefits paid to you or the person you are caring for. Please contact our Helpline for further advice.

Universal Credit

Help for people of working age who are on a low income

Universal Credit has been introduced to replace Tax Credits and four means-tested benefits for people of working age. It replaces:

- income-related Employment and Support Allowance (ESA)
- income-based Jobseeker’s Allowance (JSA)
- Income Support
- Housing Benefit
- Child Tax Credit and Working Tax Credit

Universal Credit includes a standard allowance with additional amounts for people with limited capability for work-related activity; caring responsibilities; children; children with disabilities and housing costs.
You can't usually make a new claim for any of the old means-tested benefits such as income-related ESA or Housing Benefit. If you have any questions about this please call our Helpline.

If you are at the qualifying age for Pension Credit you can claim this benefit rather than Universal Credit. However, if you live with a partner who is below the Pension Credit qualifying age you will have to claim Universal Credit as a couple instead.

You can start a claim for Universal Credit by visiting gov.uk/apply-universal-credit. You can call the Universal Credit helpline on 0800 328 5644 (textphone 0800 328 1344) if you have questions about applying, need help finding or using a computer to apply or want information in an alternative format.

Contribution-based (now known as “new-style”) Employment and Support Allowance

Help for people with limited ability to work due to disability or illness

There are still some circumstances in which you can make a claim for ESA, based on your national insurance contributions; this is called “new style ESA”.
If you are in receipt of Universal Credit, then a claim for “new style” ESA is deducted pound for pound. However, there can still be advantages to claiming this benefit as well as Universal Credit. You can call our Helpline on 0303 123 9999 to speak to one of our advisers if you would like further information.

You can claim “new-style” ESA by calling the JobCentre Plus new claims helpline on 0800 055 6688 or Textphone: 0800 328 1344.

Claims can also be made online by visiting: gov.uk/how-to-claim-new-style-esa

If you were awarded ESA before Universal Credit was introduced in the area where you live you will be able to continue to get ESA unless:

- You have a change of circumstances that mean you can no longer get ESA, or
- You are moved to Universal Credit under managed migration

Tax Credits

Help for people in work or with dependent children

Universal Credit has now replaced Tax Credits for the majority of new claimants. If you are currently getting Tax Credits, you can continue to... receive them and you do not need to do anything unless your circumstances change.

The Tax Credit system is due to end in April 2025. In the meantime, current recipients of Child Tax Credits can still claim Working Tax Credit if applicable and vice versa.

If you have a relevant change in your circumstances you will have to make a claim for Universal Credit.

Your claim for Tax Credits can be renewed up until you are transferred onto Universal Credit. Tax Credit claimants are now being moved to Universal Credit as a priority.

There are two types of Tax Credit: Child Tax Credit (CTC) and Working Tax Credit (WTC). Tax Credits are administered by His Majesty’s Revenue and Customs.

WTC can be paid to top up your wages if you work at least 16 hours per week. It includes a disability element if you are registered as SSI or SI, and if you get PIP or another qualifying benefit.

CTC can be paid if you or your partner have responsibility for a child or qualifying young person and you have a low income.
If you have a child who is registered as SSI or receives Disability Living Allowance /Child Disability Payment, your CTC award will include the disabled child element.

You cannot claim Tax Credits and Universal Credit at the same time.

Please contact our Helpline on 0303 123 9999 for the most up to date advice on your entitlement to welfare benefits.

Pension Credit

Help for people of pension age on low or modest incomes

If you have reached the Pension Credit qualifying age, you can get Guarantee Pension Credit if your weekly income is low enough. If you reached state pension age on or before 6 April 2016 you may also get Savings Pension Credit if you have modest retirement income or savings.

The age from which you may get Guarantee Pension Credit is changing and it is gradually rising in line with the increase in the state pension age for women. For example, if you were born between 6 October 1954 and 5 April 1960 your Pension Credit qualifying age is 66 years old.
To find out your exact Pension Credit qualifying age, call the Pension Service on 0800 731 0469 or check the state pension age calculator at gov.uk/state-pension-age.

You can contact our Helpline to check if you qualify.

If you are living in England, Scotland or Wales you can make a claim by calling the Pension Credit claim line on 0800 991 234 or Textphone 0800 169 0133. If you live in Northern Ireland, call the Northern Ireland Pension Centre on 0808 100 6165.

Housing Benefit

Help with paying your rent
Universal Credit has replaced Housing Benefit for new claimants of working age. If you need help with your housing costs and you are a new benefit claimant, you will be directed to claim Universal Credit.

For details about an existing Housing Benefit claim, contact your local council.
Local support for Council Tax bills and rates

Help with paying your Council Tax
Each local authority in England, Wales and Scotland is responsible for providing its own system of financial help to assist people with paying their Council Tax bill. How much support you get towards your Council Tax bill will therefore depend on where you live. Depending on your circumstances, you can receive a reduction of up to 100 per cent.

Please contact your local council to see what financial support is available for paying Council Tax in your area.

If you live in Northern Ireland there is a different scheme called the Disabled Person’s Allowance. For further information call Land and Property Services (LPS) on 0300 200 7801 or email applicationbased.raterelief@finance-ni.gov.uk

Council Tax Disability Reduction and Disabled Person’s Allowance
You may get a reduction in your Council Tax bill or rates if you have a room set aside to meet needs related to your disability. One example would be if you need to use and store equipment for your communication needs, such as a CCTV. The reduction is not automatic. This allowance is not means-tested, and you don’t need to provide any information about your income or savings to apply. Ask your local Council Tax office for details or the Disabled Person’s Allowance scheme in Northern Ireland.

A note on Universal Credit

If you already receive one of the benefits the government is replacing, you will be migrated to Universal Credit at some stage in the future through what is called “managed migration”. This process was paused due to the pandemic but has now restarted. It is expected to take several years for completion.

Please note: Legacy benefit claimants who move to Universal Credit (UC) through managed migration will have their level of benefit protected initially. However, that is not the case if you voluntarily move to UC or do so because of a change of circumstances. This can have a significant effect on the amount of benefit you’ll receive. Contact our Helpline for more information.

Exemption from “non-dependants” deductions

A non-dependant is another adult living in your home who is not your partner, for example, an adult son or daughter. Some benefits, such as housing benefit, are reduced if you have a non-dependant. However no deductions will be applied if you are registered severely sight impaired or if you get Attendance Allowance, the daily living component of PIP, or ADP, or the care component of DLA.
Tax allowances and reliefs

Your Personal Allowance is the amount of income you can receive before you have to pay tax. You might also be entitled to extra tax allowances that can reduce your tax bill.

Blind Person’s Allowance

The Blind Person’s Allowance is an extra amount of tax-free allowance. It means you can earn more before you start paying Income Tax. You can claim if you are registered as severely sight impaired, and you can transfer it to your spouse or civil partner.

Allowances if you’re married or in a civil partnership

If you or your partner were born before 6 April 1935, you could claim Married Couple’s Allowance to reduce your tax bill.

If you and your partner were born on or after 6 April 1935, you may be able to claim Marriage Allowance instead. This allows a spouse or civil partner who doesn’t pay tax to transfer part of their Personal Allowance to their partner. It applies to basic rate taxpayers.
Personal Savings Allowance
Interest on non-ISA savings and current accounts is paid tax-free. The Personal Savings Allowance means most people no longer pay tax on their savings interest.

Personal Tax Account
Your Personal Tax Account allows you to manage your tax affairs online. You can do things like check your tax code, check your State Pension and your National Insurance record and manage your tax credits payments. To access your account, visit gov.uk/personal-tax-account.
VAT relief on specialised goods and services

Goods that have been designed or adapted for disabled or blind and partially sighted people are exempt from VAT. Some building work may also be charged VAT-free. For more information, call our Helpline to request our factsheet on “VAT Relief for disabled people on goods, services and building work”.

Good to know

Our Tax Advice Service can provide more information and advice on any income tax issue you might have. Whether its information on how to make a claim for a particular tax relief, or how much you might be entitled to, call our tax team through our Helpline on 0303 123 9999.

You can also call His Majesty’s Revenue and Customs (HMRC) on 0300 200 3300 or visit hmrc.gov.uk.
Concessions

If you’re registered severely sight impaired, you’re entitled to the following concessions:

Reduction of 50% on the television licence fee
This applies if a certified severely sight impaired adult or child lives in the household. Call the TV licence helpline on 0300 555 0286. They will ask for proof of certification to be sent to them. They can also backdate the discount to the date you first became certified.

Loan of a radio or CD radio cassette player
You may also be entitled to a free permanent loan of a radio or CD radio cassette player. Contact your local social services department and ask about the British Wireless for the Blind Fund (BWBF) or call BWBF on 01622 754 757.

Car parking concessions: Blue Badge Scheme
The Blue Badge Scheme allows the driver to park in spaces reserved for disabled people. It is administered by local authorities and can be used in any vehicle in which you are travelling. Contact your local authority for more information.
Free postage on items marked or labelled “Articles for the blind”
These can include books, papers and letters in large print (minimum font size 16pt), braille items and CDs, which have been prepared for blind or partially sighted people who require items in one of these communication formats. Call the Royal Mail Customer Service Centre on 0345 774 0740 or Textphone 0345 600 0606 for more information.

If you’re registered as severely sight impaired or sight impaired, you’re entitled to the following:

Free NHS eye test by an optometrist
Tell the optometrist (also known as an optician) about your registration status before the eye test. The test is also free for anyone aged 60 or over.

It is a good idea to have an eye test even if you’re registered as severely sight impaired or sight impaired. A sight test can help detect if you have developed another eye condition, such as cataracts. It can also make sure you have the right pair of glasses or contact lenses so that you can make the most of the vision you have.
If you are unable to leave your home due to illness or disability, an eye test can be carried out at your home. Speak to your local optician to see if they offer this service. NHS eye tests are free to everyone in Scotland.

Other NHS costs
If you are in receipt of benefits, you may be entitled for help towards the cost of glasses. If you have a complex (very high) spectacle prescription, ask your optometrist if you are entitled to a complex lens voucher.

If you’re unable to leave your home without the help of another person, you may be able to get free medical prescriptions.

If you receive income-related Employment and Support Allowance, Guarantee Pension Credit, income-based Jobseeker’s Allowance or Universal Credit (and your income is below a fixed threshold) you can also get help with NHS costs, including vouchers towards the costs of glasses and free NHS eye examinations. If you have a low income or modest savings, you may be able to get help with some or all of your NHS health costs. You will need to complete an HC1 application form. Call the NHS health costs advice line on 0300 330 1343.
Travel concessions

Please note: if you’re 60 or over some of the following concessions will be available to you because of your age and regardless of your disability.

The Disabled Person's Railcard gives at least one third off the price of certain rail tickets for the cardholder, and an accompanying adult where applicable, in England, Wales and Scotland.

Even if you do not have the Disabled Person’s Railcard, you can get discounted rail travel of 34 per cent or 50 per cent on certain tickets, or free travel for a companion when you travel on your season ticket. To qualify, you must be travelling with another person and have a document confirming your registration both when you buy and when travelling on your ticket.

Call 0345 605 0525, Textphone 0345 601 0132 or visit disabledpersons-railcard.co.uk for further details.

You can get sighted assistance at the start and end of your rail journey. Contact the train operator you’re travelling with in advance to arrange this.

You will be able to get a bus pass that gives you free concessionary travel throughout the country.
There may also be community transport services such as Shopmobility and taxi discount schemes available in your area, like the Taxicard scheme in Greater London.

If you live in Scotland, you can get a Scottish Blind Persons Travel Card that entitles you to free standard class travel on all rail, local bus, ferry and long distance services in Scotland, and on the Glasgow underground.

If you live in London, the Freedom Pass gives you free travel on almost all public transport in London.

Free or discounted travel on local ferry services is available in some parts of the UK. Contact your local authority or local transport providers for further details of travel concessions in your area.

Exemption from BT Directory Enquiry charges

If you’re not able to read or hold a telephone directory, due to your sight loss or other disability, you can get free directory enquiries via the enquiries number 195. Call 0800 587 0195 to request an application form. Your form will need to be countersigned by a professional who knows you, such as a doctor, nurse or other medical practitioner, but not a social worker or key worker. You can use the free service whether or not BT is your telephone provider.
Leisure concessions
Concessions are available to people with disabilities, or people receiving certain benefits, for various leisure and recreational activities. Examples are:

• a free ticket for a person accompanying you to participating cinemas if you’re registered sight impaired or severely sight impaired or you are getting DLA, CDP, PIP, ADP or Attendance Allowance

• reduced price entry to museums, exhibitions and sporting events. A companion or carer may also be entitled to entry for free or at a reduced price.

Contact the venue for details of available concessions or call our Helpline for more information.
The Equality Act

The Equality Act (2010) aims to prevent discrimination against various groups of people, such as people with disabilities in England, Wales and Scotland. The Disability Discrimination Act similarly protects people living in Northern Ireland, including people with sight loss.

The Equality Act or Disability Discrimination Act means that you cannot be treated unfairly because of your disability. The Act applies in various situations including employment, goods, services and facilities, transport, education and premises.

If you would like information about the Equality Act or Disability Discrimination Act or need advice because you believe that you have suffered discrimination, please visit rnib.org.uk/equalityact or call our Helpline.
Certification and registration

If you register your sight loss with your local authority, it will be easier to access some of the help and support that is available. It will also be easier for you to prove your level of sight to service providers, employers or other people.

Losing your sight can be a difficult experience, and getting to the point where your sight loss can be officially certified as sight impaired or severely sight impaired can be upsetting. Registration may be a reminder of the sight you have lost and the changes that you may have had to make to your life which can be difficult. However, registration is often a positive step towards getting help to stay as independent as possible. If you would like to talk to someone about making a decision to register then please call our Helpline.

Once you are registered, you’ll be entitled to the concessions listed earlier in this publication. It can also help you make a successful claim for welfare benefits, including Attendance Allowance, PIP or ADP.

Being registered doesn’t automatically entitle you to any benefits but it can help to show how serious your sight loss is when you make a claim for certain benefits.
If you do not want to be registered, you can still get help by contacting your social services department directly and asking for an assessment of your care needs. Or you can obtain a Low Vision Leaflet (LVL) from your optometrist or a Referral of Vision Impairment (RVI) from your eye hospital or clinic. They will fill in your details and send them to social services.

Steps involved in certification and registration

1. Your eye specialist determines that you are eligible to be certified as sight impaired or severely sight impaired.
2. Your eye specialist completes the Certificate of Vision Impairment (CVI). Scotland used to have the BP1 but introduced the CVI system in 2018.
3. The eye specialist sends a copy of the certificate to your Local Authority or Local Sensory Support Team.
4. The Local Authority or Local Sensory Support Team will contact you to confirm that you agree to be registered with a sight impairment by being placed on their confidential register of blind and partially sighted people.
5. After you’re registered, the Local Authority or Local Sensory Support Team will contact you to arrange a social care assessment of your needs and services such as rehabilitation.
What does certification and registration involve?

In order to be registered with your local department of social services as severely sight impaired or sight impaired, you need to first be certified by an ophthalmologist (hospital eye doctor). They are the only professionals who can certify that you can be registered. If your sight loss is not permanent, or if you’re having treatment that could improve your sight, you may not be certified until the outcome of treatment is certain. Also, loss of sight in one eye does not qualify you for certification. The sight loss in both your eyes needs to meet the certification criteria.

Your ophthalmologist may not realise how important certification and registration can be in getting you the help you need. You may need to bring up registration with them, to make it clear that you would like to be certified and think that it is a good idea.

If you are having a problem getting certified as sight impaired or severely sight impaired, please call our Helpline for advice.

To start the certification and registration process, the ophthalmologist will assess your vision and, if you can be certified, will complete the relevant form.
Your ophthalmologist will measure how good you are at seeing detail at a distance (your visual acuity) and how much you can see from the side of your eye when you’re looking straight ahead (your field of vision).

They use a combination of your visual acuity and your field of vision to judge whether you’re eligible to be registered, and at which level.

Your visual acuity is measured by reading down an eye chart while wearing any glasses or contact lenses that you may need. The test and letter chart your ophthalmologist uses is called a Snellen chart and your result on this test is called a Snellen score.

Many consultants now use a different way of measuring visual acuity called LogMar. It is easy to convert a Snellen measurement to LogMar and vice versa and there are websites that can do this for you.

Your CVI includes the results from your eye test, as well as information about your circumstances and your preferred format for correspondence.

The certification part of the process is when your ophthalmologist confirms that you’re eligible for registration and fills out the details of your test results on your CVI form. The registration part of the process follows if you give permission to be registered as sight impaired or severely sight impaired with your Local Authority or Local Sensory Support Team. If you wish to be placed on the register, you will be asked to sign your CVI and copies of this form will be sent to you, your GP and your local social services department.
Results of your eye test
The criteria for certification means that if you have good visual acuity then usually you will have lost a large part of your visual field to be certified as severely sight impaired or sight impaired. If you have all your visual field, you will usually need to have a very poor visual acuity to be certified as severely sight impaired or sight impaired. There is more detail on the results of your CVI in the Appendix at the end of this publication.

If your eye specialist tells you that you cannot be certified at present, but you believe that your vision does meet the certification criteria, your GP may be able to refer you to a second specialist. However, bear in mind that a specialist can only certify you as sight impaired or severely sight impaired if the level of your sight loss meets the relevant criteria.

If your sight is affecting your ability to drive safely, you need to inform the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) on 0300 790 6806, or if you live in Northern Ireland the Driver and Vehicle Agency (DVA) on 0300 200 7861.
However, if you fail the eyesight requirements to drive, and the DVLA or DVA revoke your driving licence, it does not mean you will be automatically certified as either sight impaired or severely sight impaired.

This is because although your vision may not be good enough to meet the eye sight requirements to drive, it may not be reduced enough to meet the criteria for certification.

What is the register?

Each local authority or local health trust keeps a register of severely sight impaired or sight impaired people living in the area. The social services department (social work department in Scotland) or its representatives (such as a local voluntary organisation for blind and partially sighted people) hold the register. It helps your local council to provide you with the best services it can. The register is confidential so your details cannot be shared.
How registration works

If you choose to be registered straight away, the date of your registration should be the date the ophthalmologist signed the certificate. Alternatively you can take more time to think about whether or not you want to be registered, and inform your local social services department once you have made your decision. If you are having problems because of your sight, you can ask for help from social services even if you’re not yet registered. This is because there can be delays between certification and registration.

A copy of your CVI should be forwarded to your GP and local authority within five working days of its completion at the hospital. Your local social services department should contact you within 14 days of receiving your CVI to ask if you wish to be included on the register and to discuss carrying out a needs assessment, also known as a community care assessment. Needs assessments are designed to look into whether you are eligible to receive care and support, which can include help such as personal care, domestic support, disability equipment and minor adaptations to the home.
You have to register to be able to get the concessions mentioned in this booklet, and there are advantages in being registered when claiming some welfare benefits. However, you don’t need to be registered just to get information and support from your local authority.

If you later move to a different area, you should call your new local authority’s social services department to let them know that you are registered. If you’re unsure of the number, contact our Helpline or visit our Sightline Directory at rnib.org.uk/sightline-directory for information. Your new local authority will then be able to arrange for your registration details to be transferred.

Road tax exemption and reduction

You could be eligible for exemption from road tax or for a 50 percent discount if you receive certain benefits. The vehicle must be registered in the name of the person with sight loss or their nominated driver’s name. For more information and to apply, visit gov.uk/financial-help-disabled/vehicles-and-transport.
Can I get any other help along the way?

Rehabilitation

Your local authority has specially trained staff, usually called rehabilitation workers or rehabilitation officers, who can support you in a range of activities. They might be able to help you with daily life activities, such as getting about safely, cooking and leisure activities. They can also refer you to other services you might need.

Rehabilitation workers may be part of a special team working with people with sight or hearing loss or based with a local voluntary society for blind and partially sighted people. Not every local council employs rehabilitation workers, but your local authority should be able to help you receive any service you need, as agreed in your needs assessment. If you are experiencing excessive delays in support or a refusal to provide you with rehabilitation please contact our Helpline.

Low vision assessment

You may be able to get a “low vision assessment” from a low vision service, regardless of whether or not you are eligible for certification and registration. The assessment is used to try to assist... you with using your existing vision and to help you to retain your independence. It is likely to involve:

- A discussion about what activities you find difficult and what tasks you need more help with.
- An assessment with a low vision practitioner to find which magnifying devices, lighting and other equipment will help you most and a chance to try them out.
- Some training in using the equipment, and how to look after it.
- They may also direct or refer you to a rehabilitation officer.

Your local low vision service may be based in a hospital, an opticians’ practice, a community setting such as an opticians or local society, or at a resource centre run by the local society for people with sight loss. To find out more about low vision services in your area, contact your local hospital eye department, optometrist, ECLO, GP, the sensory impairment team in your social services department or your local society for people with sight loss. You can find details of these on our Sightline Directory at rnib.org.uk/sightline-directory.

Appendix – Understanding the results of your CVI

Generally, to be registered as severely sight impaired, your sight (while wearing any glasses or contact lenses) must have a:

- visual acuity of less than 3/60 with a full visual field, or
- visual acuity between 3/60 and 6/60 with a severe reduction of field of vision, such as tunnel vision, or
- visual acuity of 6/60 or above but with a very reduced field of vision, especially if a lot of sight is missing in the lower part of the field.

To be registered as sight impaired, your sight must have a:

- visual acuity of 3/60 to 6/60 with a full field of vision, or
- visual acuity of between 6/60 and 6/24 with a moderate reduction of field of vision, cloudiness in parts of your eye, or your lens has been removed and not replaced with a lens implant, or
- visual acuity of up to 6/18 if a large part of your field of vision, for example a whole half of your vision is missing, or a lot of your peripheral vision is missing.
